FRESH BOOKS FOR SUMMER READING
PUBLISHED BY

HARPER & BROTHERS, New-York.

CHARLES READE'S LATEST NOVEL,
A PERILOUS SECRET.

A Novel by CHARLES READE. 12mo. Cloth (Uniform with Harper's Household Edition of Charles Reade's Works), 75 cents; Paper, 40 cents.

By odds the best of recent novels, and the one which is sure to be widely read. The book will have been read as a notable performance at any period in the lately dead novelist's career, for truly he has put much of his best strength into it. Coming, as it does, as the last work of a hand that has held public favor with a vigorous grasp for generation, it has peculiar interest.—(N.Y. Commercial Advertiser.)

DISSOLVING VIEWS.

A Novel by MRS. ANDREW LANG. 16mos. Half Cloth, 50 cents; Paper, 35 cents.

"This refined and pleasant story is the work of a clever woman, a keen and critical observer of social life in England, and the attention of the reader will be caught by the lively pen-portraits of society which have been effectively worked into the tale."

GOOD STORIES.

By CHARLES READE. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1. Paper, 50 cents.

Brief and pithy . . . They are like everything Charles Reade, thoroughly characteristic work, and in some of them are reminders of his early and best manner.—(Saturday Evening Gazette.)

IV.

MOTHERS IN COUNCIL.

16mos. Cloth, 50 cents.

We cannot too warmly or too earnestly commend either this book or the example set by the good women of whom conference it is a record.—(N.Y. Commercial Advertiser.)

If this little book were to accomplish nothing more than to make mothers understand their station, then it would have wrought grandly.—(Boston Globe.)

V.

PICCADILLY.

A Fragment of Contemporary Biography. By LAURENCE OLIPHANT, Author of "Alcova Felt," "Irene Magdalen," etc. 16mos. Paper, 25 cents.

A bitter, cynical and unparing satire upon English society. . . . The character drawing is both vigorous and vivid, and the style throughout is terse, crisp and spirited. . . . The humor is admirable in its quaintness, and the sarcasm in its dry and inflexible irony.—(Saturday Evening Gazette.)

VI.

"TOMMY UPTON."

The Remarkable History of Sir Thomas Upson, Bart., M. P., formerly known as "Tommy Upton." By R. D. BLACKMORE, Author of "Iorna Done," "Mary Antheby," &c. 16mos. Cloth, 50 cents; Paper, 25 cents.

To most men acquainted, though ever so slightly, with party feeling in England, Mr. Upson's autobiography will be very diverting. Mr. Blackmore's style has long been considered original, and his talent of putting commonplace occurrences in ludicrous lights so exquisitely that we need hardly say how unique and amusing "Tommy Upton" proves.—N. Y. Independent.

VII.

MANNERS AND SOCIAL USAGES.

By MARY JOHN SHIRWELL, Author of "A Transplanted Rose." 16mos. Cloth, $1.50.

It is absolutely exhaustive of its subject, containing thirty-eight chapters dealing with the mysteries of card introductions, invitations, weddings, dining and dinner meetings, tea parties, &c. It is a mine of information, and its original and his talent of putting commonplace occurrences in ludicrous lights so exquisitely that we need hardly say how unique and amusing "Tommy Upton" proves.—N. Y. Independent.

THE ENTAILED HAT;

Or, Patty Cannon's Times A Romance. By GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND ("Gath"). 16mo. Cloth, $1.50.

It has such originality and individuality: there is such vigor and vitality in its portraiture of human character, such graphic fidelity, its descriptions of scene and incident, such lifelike delineation of strange, unusual types, and such blending of "soother with the gauntier aspects of human nature, the book has, in a word, so many and such diverse and stirring elements of drama in interest, that we are ready to pronounce it one of the most remarkable products of American fiction of recent years.—Literary World, Boston.
